MAN DROWNED NEAR WESTERLY

Philip Herbert, 45, Was Crossing Bridge That Was Being Repaired and Lost Balance—William M. Williams, of Norwich, Recalls Sensational Bank Robbery—Band Concert Tonight—Funeral of James M. Pendleton, Jr.

The local committee of Islando Margherita lodge has completed arrangements for the special convention of the Grand Lodge of Rhode Island, Sons of Italy in America, which is to be held next Sunday in Mechanics hall, opening at 11 o'clock in the morning. At 2 o'clock recess will be taken for dinner which will be served in Italian hall and at 4 o'clock the convention will reconvene. In the evening at 8 o'clock there will be a public session in Mechanics hall. Professor Vincenzo E. Cinquagnani, of Providence, head of the order will be the principal speaker. Joseph Voneshko, also of Providence, will give an address in English. At 9 o'clock there will be a concert and reception in honor of the grand officers. The grand lodge was instituted last September, and since then fourteen more lodges have become affiliated, and the total membership is about 5,000.

The grand lodge officers and delegates will be met by the committee at the railway station and under escort of Islando Margherita lodge, will leave for New London at 7:30 o'clock, the parade terminating at Mechanics hall where the convention is to be held.

Many patrons of the train that leaves New London at 7:10 in the morning and Westerly at 7:45, are pleased with the proposition to place this train back on its original schedule, that is to leave New London at 7:45 and Westerly at 8:15. While the change might inconvenience a few it would be more accommodating for the general public.

The first morning east bound train to leave Westerly at 7:45, and comes this 7:45 train and there is no other until 10:30. The change from 7:45 to 8:15, would surely be appreciated by the great majority of passengers.

Hon. William F. Wilcox, A. M., L. D., of New York, a former postmaster of that city and chairman of the public service committee of New York is announced as one of the speakers, on Friday, Sept. 1, at the annual reunion of the Wilcox family and allied families, in Westerly, which opens Aug. 21 and closes Sept. 2. Mr. Wilcox was recently chosen chairman of the republican national committee and will be so busy in political campaign work, that he will probably be unable to attend the Wilcox reunion in Westerly.

William M. Williams, a former chief of the Norwich fire department, is now in Westerly, the guest of his niece, Mrs. William H. Snowling. Mrs. Williams is perhaps the only living witness who testified in the Phoenix bank robbery, about sixty-five years ago. This bank was located at the corner of Broad and Union streets, in a small stone building, on the site of the present wooden building of the James A. Wolcott estate.

This bank robbery was committed by "Doc" Knause and "Doc" Knave, who were convicted and sent to the Rhode Island state prison. This is also the case in which Henry L. Dorey, who is still known as the "Prisoners' Friend," after his escape from the Rhode Island state prison, was the man behind the bars in the Rhode Island state prison. Dorey was the man who prepared the show that Doc and Knave were in business in New York, N. Y., and that in the days of the bank robbery, they were in New York, N. Y., and had made entries in the books on that date.

The robbery was effected by cutting a hole through the steel door of the safe, and fishing out about $10,000 in gold and silver. The money was in evidence at the trial in the superior court and was far from a robbery. The money was in evidence at the trial in the superior court and was far from a robbery. The money was in evidence at the trial in the superior court and was far from a robbery.

Mr. Williams was an important witness for the state as he positively identified the two men, Doc and Knave, as being in Westerly, the morning after the bank robbery, and thereby broke down the alibi defense set up by the defendants.

Dr. Dorey, at that time Mr. Williams, drove the stage coach between Westerly and Groton, carrying the ferry for New London. His passengers were Cole and Knave and they were in the pocket stage coach for New London, and thence to New York, where they were subsequently arrested.

The lawyers for the defendants were paid in bank notes of the Phoenix bank, some of the identical ones stolen from the bank. The bank was used to honor these notes, but when threatened with suit, it refused.

The Phoenix bank was subsequently taken over by the Washington National bank, now the Washington Trust company.

The fourteenth anniversary and rally day of the Union Baptist church of Westerly will be held next Sunday at the church on Canal street, and special effort will be made to raise $100 to pay off the church debt. The committee has arranged a program which reads as follows: At 11 o'clock the historical sermon preached by the pastor, Rev. J. Alexander Morris, subject, The Pilgrimage of the Church, prayer by Deacon Simon Hart.

At 2 o'clock—The Educational Sermon, preached by Rev. R. B. Harris, D. D., pastor of Memorial Baptist church, New York.

At 3 o'clock—The anniversary sermon will be preached by Rev. E. Douglas, Thomas D. D., of Clinton, R. I., the Civil war veteran, the fearless preacher, founder of the mission out of which the Union Baptist church grew; the anniversary prayer by Deacon Hugh Smith, the chairman of the deacon board, the offering, benediction, by Rev. J. Alexander Morris, pastor.

George W. Shepard, of Willimantic, is spending the summer at Pleasant View, and Tuesday he called on Ethan Wilcox, librarian emeritus of the Westerly Public Library, and these gentlemen met for the first time in sixty years. They talked of their boyhood days when they worked together in the Central Village cotton mill, since which time they had not seen each other. Mr. Shepard and two brothers held commissions in the army during the Civil war, a record that is probably not equaled in any Connecticut family.

George W. Shepard enlisted from Clinton, Aug. 9, 1862, in Company K, Twenty-first regiment infantry, an sergeant, and was promoted to be second lieutenant of Company H, Oct. 1, 1862. Six weeks later he was made first lieutenant. On Nov. 10, 1862, he was made lieutenant. On Nov. 10, 1862, he was promoted to be captain of the company and was honorably discharged May 8, 1865. His brother, Jeremiah M., was captain of Company K, Twenty-first, and became major by brevet. He entered the service from Plainfield, Aug. 1862, and was discharged April 10, 1865. He was transferred to the Twenty-first, from Company F, of the Eighth Connecticut. He was wounded at Dreary's bluff, May 18, 1864. John L. Shepard, who enlisted from Plainfield, in Company K, Twenty-first, was mustered in as sergeant Aug. 9, 1862, and was made first sergeant the following December. He was promoted to be second lieutenant Dec. 29, 1862, and was honorably discharged Sept. 22, 1863. At one time the three brothers were all in Company K, Twenty-first, ranking as follows: Captain Jeremiah M. Shepard, Second Lieutenant John L. Shepard, and Sergeant George W. Shepard.

Sharks are not the only man eaters in Westerly and vicinity, or rather man biters, for the acts of Pasquale Desmarteau are entitled to be in that classification. About six weeks ago he was in a row with a fellow countryman and bit his finger. He was fined with a fine of $25 and costs for that offense. He is the same chap that chewed the left ear of George Galtier, Sunday night as reported.

Desmarteau was before Judge Oliver H. Williams, in the Third district court, at midnight of Tuesday, and pleaded not guilty to the charge of violent assault. He furnished a bond of $1000 for appearance in the district court Friday morning.

At the annual meeting of the Atlantic Tuna club, held Monday at Block Island, Charles W. Willard of Westerly was re-elected president.

William Pickering, 31, after a comparatively brief illness, died early Wednesday morning. He was born in Westerly, the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Pickering, of East avenue. He was a blacksmith by occupation, but for several years has been associated with Matthew Sullivan and in business in Main street under the firm name of Pickering & Sullivan. He was generally classed as a good fellow by his many friends and was popular with his many acquaintances. Besides his wife, he is survived by two sons, George, Jr., and Joseph Pickering; also by three sisters, Mrs. Arnold Herdick, Mrs. Frank Taylor and Miss Margaret Pickering. The deceased was a member of Westerly lodge, B. P. O. E., and Doved lodge, K. of P.

Funeral services for James Monroe Pendleton, Jr., at the home of his parents in Elm street, Wednesday afternoon, were conducted by Rev. P. C. A. Jones, pastor of Calvary Baptist church. Many attended and there were many beautiful floral tributes from intimate friends of the family and also from the Industrial Trust company and the Westerly Boy Scouts and Colonial club. Burial was at River Bend, the grave being lined with red rubber roses and covered with a black asphaltum and white snap drapery.

The honorary bearers were Luther Decker, Alexander Blake, Peter N. Perry, Sidney Blake, Richard E. Ward, and William Clark, Jr., companions of the deceased. The casket was borne by colored bearers.

Philip Hebert, 45, master mechanic at the Pawcatuck woolen mill, Potter Hill, fell from the bridge over the Pawcatuck river, Tuesday morning, about 50 yards landed at Water Hill for an hour's liberty, returning to the ship with newspapers and some shore luxuries.

John Gabrielle, employed at the New England granite works, had his right hand caught between the rope and block of a derrick Wednesday and the fingers were crushed. He was attended by Dr. May and examination tended to the belief that amputation would not be necessary.

Mrs. Sarah Palmer, widow of Abel E. Palmer, died Tuesday at the home of her niece, Mrs. Harlan P. Baker, on the Potter Hill road. She was born in Westerly Nov. 15, 1825, and always resided within the town. She is survived by a son, Frank Palmer, of New York city. Mrs. Palmer was a member of the Pawcatuck Seventh Day Baptist church.

A case of empty bottles fell from the wagon of a bottling concern when in front of the postoffice Wednesday afternoon. The bottles were smashed to smithereens and a suspension of automobile traffic resulted. In a few minutes the High street wide was arrived with his little cart, broom and shovel and cleared every particle of glass from the moon gravelled highway. He saved money for automobile owners and prevented increase in the rubber tire business in Westerly.

PLAINFIELD

Daniel Hallisey Pays Fine and Costs—Town Has Some Skilled Marksmen—Musicians Attend Voluntary Band Rehearsal.

Daniel Hallisey was arraigned before Justice Benjamin R. Briggs at Central Village Wednesday morning on two charges, breach of the peace and intoxication. He was arrested Thursday for causing a disturbance in front of David Marshall's home on Babcock avenue. Hallisey pleaded not guilty to the charges, but after the state had shown its evidence he was found guilty and fined $3 and costs, amounting to $28.02, which he paid.

Town's Sharpshooters. Plainfield can boast a number of marksmen who have accomplished some great work at shoots this year. The most prominent of these are George Babcock, Valmore Guertin, Lawrence Krause, Edward Lyon, Dr. Arthur A. Chase, Will Bradford, Thomas Flynn and John A. Leahy. George Babcock showed remarkable skill with a rifle in the recent shoot held under the auspices of the Tuftville Shooting club, finishing in second place. Valmore Guertin, who is a member of the Thirteenth company, is claimed to be the crack shot in the county. In the trial shoot of the Danielson range he showed his fine marksmanship by finishing in first place. Lawrence Krause is another man who has performed in a fine manner at Tuftville range, for in every shoot that he has participated in his name has been found near the top of the card.

The remaining cracksmen have been known to do some great shooting in this section, especially Will Bradford, who is said to have cast his vote for weeks on his annual summer shoot, as well as have Will level his rifle on you for a target.

Although at present there is no range here where shoots are held, it will not be long before a range is laid out and shoots will be held under the auspices of Plainfield shooting club, as this sport is fast becoming popular among local men.

Public Contest Saturday. The Plainfield Bowling Green club anticipates a great day Saturday, when the Central Falls bowling team competes with the local team here.

Railroad Buys Land. The New Haven railroad has purchased from Frederick Dennison a strip of land and a building situated between the Ira C. Noyes property and the Climax mill. It is supposed the road purchased this contemplating the four-track system.

Band Concert. At the band concert on Gray park by the Mystic band this week, Walter J. Pond of Londis Point sang two selections of his own composition, a pleasing incident of the evening. The following program was rendered: March, New Colonization; R. E. Hall, American Melodist; Tobani; March, Independentia; R. B. Hall; waltz, Danube; J. Strauss, Jr.; waltz, Old Home Town on the Rhine; Harlow; trombone solo, J. Wrecked; overture, Die Sankelmu; Cornet and march, Dutch Kamps; trumpet waltz, Love Melodies; Daniderus; melody, Sons of Erin; Beyer; Walter J. Pond; Lullaby, Success; We're All for Uncle Sam; march, National Cadets; Brown; Star Spangled Banner.

Tierney Cadets Drill. St. Patrick's Tierney Cadets held a regular meeting Wednesday evening in Columbus hall, when one new member was admitted. The annual picnic of the cadets will be held on Saturday, July 29, at Mason's Island. An invitation from St. Mary's Cadets of New London was received to attend their annual picnic at the Golden Spruce on Monday, July 31. After the meeting a drill was held. Ex-Sergeant Walter G. Quinn of Connecticut Coast Artillery of New London, was drill master.

Surprised on Birthday. Mrs. Henry Richmond was given a surprise party Wednesday afternoon, when fifteen friends gathered to help her celebrate her birthday. Mrs. Richmond gave her guests a cordial welcome and a pleasant afternoon was spent. Refreshments were served by Mrs. George Richmond.

Noted Here and There. Dr. Ralston R. Reed of Jersey City, N. J., is the guest of his brother-in-law.
